This Sanskrit sloka tells us that the trinity of gods—Brahma the Creator, Vishnu the sustainer and Shiva the destroyer—additionally to all the Goddesses, Mother Earth with her seven islands, and all knowledge in the form of the Rigveda, Yajur-Veda, Sama-Veda and Atharva-Veda exist in Kumbha. Thus, Kumbha is the symbol of all that is, and all that exists. The Kumbha Mela is a celebration, a festival of the glory of Kumbha. It is, therefore, a celebration of all knowledge and all life.

Kumbha Mela symbolises divinity and knowledge. In mythology, the ‘Kumbha’ or pot of nectar was churned from the ocean and meant for distribution—not hoarding. Likewise the nectar of knowledge and spirituality must be churned from within us and shared with humanity.

In keeping with that philosophy, the holy occasion is aptly named Kumbh Mela.
The Purna (complete) Kumbh takes place every twelve years, at four places Allahabad, Haridwar, Ujjain, and Nashik. The Maha (great) Kumbh Mela which comes after 12 ‘Purna Kumbh Melas’, or 144 years, is held at Allahabad.

Kumbh is enthralling as it is witness to the largest human gathering in history for a similar cause on a single day irrespective of any worldly barriers of caste, creed, colour and religion. It is a once in a lifetime experience seeing millions of pilgrims and tourists from all over the world come together for spirituality and salvation.

This festival is held in highest regard as the ritual bath in the sacred water on this day saturated with flower & incense amidst chanting of Vedic hymns and mantras liberates one from all suffering and miseries of life. The Kumbh Mela is considered the greatest religious concourse in the world. On this occasion countless pilgrims from every nook and corner of the land, speaking different languages and dialects, wearing distinctive sectarian marks, observing varying manners and customs meet together for a holy dip in the sacred waters of river Ganga and Godavari. It is believed that bathing on the auspicious days cleanses one of all sins and paves the way for Moksha (meaning liberation from the cycle of Life, Death and Rebirth).
The early evidence of the Kumbh Mela can be found in the accounts of Chinese traveler, Huan Tsang or Xuanzang (602 - 664 A.D.) who visited India in 629–645 CE, during the reign of King Harshavardhana. However, similar observances date back many centuries, where the river festivals first started getting organised. According to medieval Hindu theology, its origin is found in one of the most popular medieval puranas, the Bhagavata Purana. The Samudra manthan episode (Churning of the ocean of milk), is mentioned in the Bhagavata Purana, Vishnu Purana, the Mahabharata, and the Ramayana.
The account goes that the Devas (demigods) had lost their strength by the curse of Durväsä Muni, and to regain it, they approach Lord Brahma and Lord Shiva who directed all Devas (demigods) to Lord Vishnu. He instructed them to churning the ocean of milk Ksheera Sagara for amrita (the nectar of immortality). This required them to make a temporary agreement with their arch enemies, the demons or Asuras, to work together with a promise of sharing the wealth equally thereafter. However, when the Kumbha (urn) containing the amrita appeared, a fight ensued. For twelve days and twelve nights (equivalent to twelve human years) the Gods and Demons fought in the sky for the pot of amrita. It is believed that during the battle, Lord Vishnu (incarnate as Mohini-Mürti) flew away with the Kumbh of elixir spilling drops of amrita at four places: Allahabad, Haridwar, Ujjain and Nashik.

Since then, when the planets align in the same position, pilgrims and devotees converge to commemorate this divine event. Purna (Full) Kumbh Mela takes place every three years in rotation in the four sacred places. Therefore Kumbh Mela in each location takes place every twelfth year.
THE TIMING

Kumbh Mela is celebrated at different locations depending on the position of the planet of Bṛhaspati (Jupiter) and the sun. When Jupiter and the sun are in the zodiac sign Leo (Simha Rashi) it is held in Trimbakeshwar, Nashik; when the sun is in Aries (Mesha Rashi) it is celebrated at Haridwar; when Jupiter is in Taurus (Vrishabha Rashi) and the sun is in Capricorn (Makar Rashi) Kumbha Mela is celebrated at Prayag; and Jupiter and the sun are in Scorpio (Vrishchik Rashi) the Mela is celebrated at Ujjain. Each site’s celebration dates are calculated in advance according to a special combination of zodiacal positions of Sun, Moon, and Jupiter.

Every transition in the planetary movements defines the timescale and is, therefore, observed as “parva” in the Hindu customs. As these changes in the planetary configurations give rise to the cycle of season, they also affect human life. Ancient Indian seers have studied all these effects, and customs are set in accordance with the natural phenomena and their effects on our life.

“A parva” in Sanskrit, literally means a bridge connecting a time-gap. Every planetary movement is cyclic and its completion creates a new division on the timescale. Such cosmic transitions are regularly observed with the Hindu rituals and festivals. Rituals also have their mythological connections and spiritual connotations.

Jupiter takes about 11 years, 10 months and 14 days to complete its revolution around the sun; it comes back to any specific position on its orbit on completion of nearly 12 years. Thus all these planetary configurations are repeated every 12th year and, thus, Kumbh Mela also comes after the same interval.
The mythological story of the appearance of Amrit (Nectar of life) from the churning of the ocean is related with the occurrence of Kumbh Mela and has a ritualistic importance. The spiritual symbolism is significant. Sun and Moon respectively stand for human rational intellect and mind.

Known as “Guru” in Sanskrit, Jupiter is the spiritual master. When the sun (rational intellect) having definite relation with Jupiter (Guru) guides the moon (human mind), the result is the realization of the immortality (Amrit) of self. Therefore, the Indian tradition gives importance of being at specific places, having a dip in the river, performing religious rituals and attending spiritual discourses during the Kumbh Mela.
THE AMBIENCE

Chiming of bells, perfume of incense, fragrance of flowers, chanting of Vedic hymns, throb of drums, parade of horses, camels, and elephants, processions of naga (naked) sadhus from different akhadas (orders) in their gold and silver chariots pulled by devotees – The Kumbh mela, is saturated in spirituality.

The Mela is a blend of religious and cultural activities – discussions, devotional singing, mass feeding of holy men and women and the poor, and religious assemblies where doctrines are debated, dance dramas depicting the vagary of man and God, beautiful tableaux.
Kumbh Fair is an once-in-a-lifetime experience. The aroma from food stalls merge with the scent of attars. The cry of hawkers calling their wares blend with the music of bhajans. The saffron, the white, the ash smeared bodies of sadhus and yogis mingle with the profusion of colours of the mela. The native devotees, the curious tourists, the seekers and the faithful bound together by the exotic uniqueness.

To witness the procession of holy men and women on chariots, horses, elephants, camels, and palanquins is not only awe inspiring but also blissful as palpable spirituality and shakti (energy) pervade the atmosphere. Devotees await the darshan and blessings of yogis who come out of their retreats only once in 12 years. While the parade of saints marches towards the Ganges River, the sounds defy description -- the shouts and cries of sadhus mingle with the neighing of horses, trumpeting of elephants, grunting of camels, bellowing of bulls. Gongs and drums beat, trumpets blare, conch shells blow and bells ring. In the midst of this cacophony, musicians and dancers perform.

The Kumbh Mela is pure enchantment for the soul.
THE HOLY BATH

The essence of the Kumbh Mela is for pilgrims to bathe at certain sacred spots on certain auspicious days. Holy Snan or bathing in the river Ganges is of great importance. It is believed that it washes away all the sins and the cycle of rebirth and death ends as the soul becomes one with the Almighty.

Some of the bathing days are designated "royal." On all the major bathing dates, the naga sadhus (naked mendicants) will parade and bathe.

On the main bathing dates at sunrise there is magnificent procession of saints. As the saints pass, they impart blessings to people who flank their path. The saints take a dip (shahi snan) in the Holy River Ganges. This takes place according to tradition, each group proceeding to the river and then bathing in a particular sequence. It is only after all these groups of holy people have bathed, that other people will take their turn to bathe in the Ganges.

It occurs on the 14th night of the new moon during the dark half of the month of Phalguna (February—March). It falls on a moonless February night, when Hindus offer special prayer to the lord of destruction. Shivratri is the night when he is said to have performed the Tandava Nritya or the dance of primordial creation, preservation and destruction. The festival is observed for one day and one night only.
ALLAHABAD

Also known as the city of God, Allahabad, in Persian means Settled by God. It is for this reason, that it has been innumerable mentioned in the ancient Hindu texts. The history of the place, both mythological and factual, makes it one of the most fascinating and among the main holy Indian cities, special to Hindus in India and abroad. According to the mythological history, when Lord Brahma was done with creating the world, he offered his first prayer here. Hence the justification of its ancient name Prayag, meaning Place of Oblation. The place also has a special significance according to the Hindu scriptures for holding the confluence of three of the most sacred rivers of India: Gango, Yamuna, and Saraswati at Triveni Sangam, which becomes the nucleus of all celebrations of Kumbh Mela.

Apart from being a part of the awe-inspiring Kumbh Mela, where you will be able to witness the Hindu culture and religion at its best; you will also be able to visit the various tourist attractions in and around the city. Allahabad, the second oldest city in India is replete with an enriching history from the mythological times to Mauryan and Gupta Empires to the Mughal Empire.
ALLAHABAD - Places of Interest:

SANGAM
The famous confluence of the divine Ganga, Yamuna and mythical Saraswati rivers at Allahabad is known as Sangam and has been a major attraction for pilgrims from the ancient times. The water of the two rivers is of different colours and their meeting point is distinctly visible. The mega fairs of Magh Mela, Ardh Kumbh and Kumbh are held on the banks of Sangam. Boats are available on hire to reach the Sangam. The evening Arti at the bank of Sangam is worth seeing.

ALLAHABAD FORT
The massive fort, built by Emperor Akbar in 1583 A.D. on the bank of the Yamuna, close to the Sangam, is presently used by the Army and only a limited area is open to visitors. The magnificent outer wall of the fort is intact and rises above the water’s edge. Inside the fort there are revered unique Akshayavat or immortal Banyan tree, a 10.6 metre-high polished sandstone Ashokan Pillar - dating back to 232 B.C., having several rare edicts, the Saraswati Koop, the Palace of Jodhabai etc. Permission is needed from the Commandant, Ordnance Depot, Fort to visit these places.

PATALPURI TEMPLE
This underground temple, situated in the outer part of the fort, houses old icons of deities.

LORD HANUMAN TEMPLE (Bade Hanumanji)
Near the Sangam, this much revered temple is unique for its huge supine idol of Lord Hanuman, a few feet below the ground. The temple is widely known as Bade Hanumanji. When the Ganga is in spate, this temple gets submerged.

SHANKAR VIMAN MANDAPAM
Near the Fort and Lord Hanuman temple at the bund area, this 130 ft. high temple with four floors built in South Indian style, has the idols of Kumaril Bhatt, Jagadguru Adi Shankaracharya, Kamakshi Devi (with 51 Shaktipeeths around), Tirupati Balaji (with 108 Vishnus around) and Yogishastra Sahasrayoga Linga (having 108 Shivas around).

The temple is surrounded by many other temples, such as Shri Ramanandacharya Math, Laxmi-Narayan Temple, Radha-Krishna-Gopal Temple, Triveni Temple, Jagdish Bhagwan Temple, Gaddi Sardas, Deverba Baba Sevasaram, Gaddi Kankardasi, Shri Dattatreyaji Temple, Ram Janki Temple, Handia Baba Ashram, Ganga Temple, Shri Kaliji Temple etc.

SARASWATI GHAT-NEHRU GHAT
Saraswati Ghat, on the bank of river Yamuna, is an old ghat while nearby modern Nehru Ghat is an ideal picnic spot which is under the control of Army. The boats for Sangam are available here also.

MANKAMESHWAR TEMPLE
This ancient Lord Shiva Temple is picturesquely located near Saraswati Ghat on the bank of Yamuna.

MADAN MOHAN MALVIYA PARK (MINTO PARK)
The park is situated near the Mankameshwar Temple. In it stands a white stone memorial with a four-lion symbol on top. On November 1, 1858 the famous declaration of Queen Victoria was read here by Lord Canning.

BOAT CLUB / WATER SPORTS COMPLEX
The Boat Club-Water Sports Complex, situated in between the new hanging Yamuna bridge and UPSTDC Hotel Triveni Darshan at the Yamuna bank road, is a major site for the adventurous water sports activities. Here, the deep depth and long straight stretch of river Yamuna is most ideal for the water sports activities. The facilities available here are Scuba Diving, Water Scooter, Paddle-Canoe & Kayak, Motor-Speed Boats, Para Sailing etc. The both banks of the river and hanging bridge over the river provide a natural and massive spectator’s gallery. One can also go to the Sangam by Motor Boat from here.
